TBM: Using the best tool for the job

The Birkman Method (TBM) is arguably the most powerful tool available for OD, Talent Management and personal/professional development. With an ongoing R&D programme that stretches back 70 years, TBM is the cutting edge tool for 21st Century Organisations - and 21st Century Organisational Consultants.

The Birkman Method combines depth of individual insight with the ability to make sense of very large groups of people, and does so better than other leading tools can do either of those tasks.

The consistent message we have heard from our clients over more than two decades is that you can put all your weight on the insights coming from TBM, and they won't let you down.

At the most fundamental level, Birkman gives you a reading of who a person most truly is, and expresses that in wholly positive terms. So it is never about good people / bad people, it is about who people are, what will work for them and where they will be able to deliver sustainable performance. As an external coach or consultant, Birkman data means you can provide your clients with a solid foundation for increased self-awareness, focused development, and more sustainable goals.

Other tools classify against theories of leadership or behaviour; TBM provides genuine understanding of people as individuals and how they show up in their relationships, their teams and larger groupings. As an organisation, this gives you the hard-edged data necessary to predict performance and manage your people, effectively.

It's like we say: stop guessing and start understanding, with TBM.

The Birkman Method meets the criteria of a robust psychometric assessment with regard to both reliability and validity, including across cultures and languages. To learn more, you can request a digital copy of the Technical Manual - just email us at training@elaura.com

"Oh my goodness, this is it! The company gave me a coach 18 months ago, and I have been working with them trying to get to the bottom of why I keep derailing myself in this area. But you have just described exactly the problem and why it happens; and I can now see the solution!"

Why be Birkman Certified?

Completing The Birkman Method Certification is a requirement if you want to work with Birkman's flagship Signature Report and related individual and team data.

Birkman Certification equips you to work with individuals, teams and organisations using the Signature suite of reports (individual, comparative and group).

Signature is the flagship Birkman Method Report. It provides insight into motivations, behaviours, perceptions and career options. Unique underlying Needs and Stress scores create powerful self-awareness that enables behavioural change.

Signature provides a powerful foundation for one-on-one coaching conversations, team workshops and organisational interventions. Data is readily aggregated and analysed to provide powerful insight into team and organisational dynamics, strength of perspectives and potential gaps or blind spots.

TBM Certification is suitable for professionals involved in People/Organisational Development, L&D, Talent Management, Career Development, Coaching, Management, Leadership etc. Birkman Certification is accredited by ICF and SHRM.

Beyond equipping you to use Birkman Reports with others, Certification is a hugely valuable experience for your own personal and professional development and is well worth doing as a manager or leader to develop your understanding of self and others.

As you learn to interpret the data, you will dig deep into your own scores and the implications these have on how you live, work and interact with both people and situations.

"I came to the training unsure of what to expect, and wearing my empirical/critical psychologist's hat, and the way you explained the model and tool was truly inspiring, thoughtful and really well grounded, and as a result I can't wait to start using the Birkman with clients and candidates."

Become a Birkman Certified Professional with Elaura

Elaura have been delivering Birkman Certification for over 10 years. As authorised trainers we have a wealth of knowledge and experience to draw on from decades using The Birkman Method data.

Our facilitators are professional and personable and create a supportive learning environment that enables participants to ask questions and dig deep, while still keeping up the flow of the programme.

During the 3 days of Certification there are multiple opportunities to work on exercises with your fellow learners in pairs and groups, and by the end, facilitate a significant conversation for another learner around their Birkman Report.

Completing Birkman Certification with Elaura means that your learning doesn't end with the Live Training sessions.

We are committed to giving all those who we train the best start on their Birkman journey, and this means we provide ongoing support and offer various opportunities for continued learning and development, long after the programme has ended.

Our growing network of Birkman Certified Professionals is a diverse group, with members around the world -- from Ireland and the UK, through Europe, the Middle-East, and across Asia and the Pacific. The diversity of industry, context and experience represented makes for rich and valuable learning at our bi-monthly virtual Meet-Ups for BCPs.

"Meet Ups are very useful to keep Birkman front of mind. They also keep you from sliding off piste in the way you talk about scores. No other assessment provider does this."

Your Facilitators for Certification

The Birkman Method Certification is hosted and delivered by Jon and Sarah Mason from Elaura, with additional support from other members of the Elaura team.

Jon and Sarah Mason are long-established Birkman Master Certified Professionals and Authorised Trainers. They have been using Birkman for over 20 years and their consultancy practice spans the UK to Asia Pacific. They also lead the team which has developed the Birkman-powered hoozyu programme for young people, and Jon is the author of a book on the Birkman Method - hoozyu: preparing for life and the marketplace.

Sarah is a BPS Chartered Occupational Psychologist, she leads The Birkman Method Certification from Elaura and has trained and supported many individuals as they begin their journey as Birkman Certified Professionals.

Jon has extensive expertise in using The Birkman Method with C-suite leaders, teams and their organisations to solve problems, improve performance, inform selection & recruitment and deal with mission critical issues.

"The ability to tap into your wealth of expertise has been invaluable and very much appreciated!"

What is included and what is expected from you?

In 2024 we'll be using Birkman International's brand new materials for The Birkman Method Certification. This new and improved programme includes great resources to get you started on your Birkman journey.

As part of the programme you will receive:

- Your own Birkman Signature Report
- Access to Elaura's online Signature Audio Guide
- A one-on-one conversation about your Signature Report with one of our facilitators (via Zoom)
- Access to the online Prep Course from Birkman International (roughly 4 hours of content)
- 3 days of In-Person Training at a pleasant location in Singapore
- A printed Birkman Playbook and digital Reference Manual for use during training and as you begin having Birkman Conversations
- Assistance and support in setting up a Birkman Account
- 2 complimentary Birkman Questionnaires to get you started
- A bonus follow-up session (via Zoom) ~4 weeks after Certification
- Ongoing support from the Elaura team and access to attend bi-monthly Birkman Meet Up sessions

Being open, and willing to discuss scores with other participants is an essential part of The Birkman Method Certification - much of the learning and value of this course happens through conversation.

Participants on The Birkman Method Certification are required to complete all stages of the programme (outlined on the following page), up to conclusion of the In-Person Training, in order to receive BCP status. Please note: attendance at the full 3 days of training is mandatory.

Stages of the programme:

- Pre-conversation stage - 17th-23rd June 2024

We'll remind you to take some focused time to review your report this week, so that you are fresh with your scores and questions before your conversation.
- Conversation stage - 24th-27th June 2024

All participants will have a one-on-one conversation with one of our facilitators this week (via Zoom), about their own Birkman Signature Report.
- Prep Course stage - 1st-14th July 2024

You'll receive an email from Birkman International with details of how to access the Prep Course. You'll have 2 weeks to complete this short course (around 4 hours of content) preparing you for the In-Person Training stage of Certification.
- In-Person Training stage - 16th-18th July 2024

During this stage we will meet for 3 days of in-person training. You will also need to allow 1-2 hours preparation time before your in-depth paired conversation on the 3rd day.
- Launch stage - 3 months following In-Person Training

~4 weeks after the In-Person Training we offer a 2-hour follow up session via Zoom to answer any questions that have come up, debrief on any conversations you've had so far, and teach you some helpful tips for more effectively preparing for Birkman conversations. We also provide additional materials, resources and support as you get started with your own Birkman practice.
- BCP Network - Ongoing

By this point you're a fully fledged Birkman Certified Professional and we invite you to join our network of BCPs from around the world. You'll be able to join our bi-monthly Birkman Meet Ups which happen over Zoom and include opportunities to continue developing your Birkman expertise, while networking with a diverse group of BCPs. We are committed to ongoing support of all those who we train in The Birkman Method.
